Who Is PCCA?
Since 1945, the Power & Communication Contractors Association has represented the interests of contractors, manufacturers, and suppliers in the various sectors of power and communication construction throughout North America. PCCA provides industry-specific education and training, advocacy on issues that impact your bottom line, and unbeatable networking opportunities with people who can open doors in power and communication construction.

PCCA-member contractors build electric power facilities, including transmission & distribution lines and substations, and telephone, fiber optic, and cable TV systems throughout North America. Other business activities include intelligent traffic systems, local area & premise wiring, security, renewable energy, water & sewer utilities, and gas & oil pipelines.

PCCA is supported in large part by its associate membership, which is made up of manufacturers and suppliers in the industry who provide the highest quality materials and services. Associate members are equal partners in PCCA, working alongside contractors and having representation on the Board of Directors.

Why Join PCCA?
Advocacy on Issues that Impact Your Bottom Line
- Exemptions from Burdensome DOT Regulations
  - Clarified exemption from hours-of-service rules for Utility Service Vehicles when maintaining and repairing essential utility services
  - Requesting exemption for power and communications contractors from pending electronic logging device requirements
- Federal Agencies that Fund Power and Broadband Work
  - Close working relationship with the agencies that oversee much power and telecommunications work, including Rural Utilities Service, Federal Communications Commission, and Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
  - Agency representatives attend PCCA meetings to give program updates, address problems, and answer questions from our members
- Damage Prevention
  - Active member of Common Ground Alliance
  - Challenging onerous programs such as the Gold Shovel Standard

Unbeatable Networking Opportunities
- Work alongside industry leaders on issues that impact your business and bottom line
- Attend PCCA Conventions and Mid-Year Meetings where everybody hangs out with everybody and where career-long relationships are forged
- Socialize with colleagues from across North America, meet their families, play golf, and enjoy relaxed, fun times
- Become part of the PCCA community during meetings and throughout the year at www.pccaweb.org and on Facebook

Addressing Industry Worker Shortage
- Developing Utility Construction curriculum for technical schools and community colleges
- Helping implement Utility Construction programs at colleges in Missouri, Wisconsin, and Ohio with more states to follow
- PCCA Scholarship Program with special consideration for students in construction-related programs

Industry-Specific Education & Training
- PCCA Leadership Development Program
  - One-day sessions delivered each year at the PCCA Convention and summarized each year at the Mid-Year Meeting
  - Ongoing learning experience with action planning and follow-up to reinforce concepts and encourage practical implementation of skills back on the job
  - Course material customized by PCCA's subject matter experts and using examples specific to power and communication construction
  - Interaction with experienced industry executives
- PCCA Construction Industry Roundtable
  - Fast-moving and frank discussion at every PCCA meeting that touches on the various segments of our industry
  - Detailed economic forecasts on the markets in which you work
  - Reports from relevant federal agencies and industry groups, including RUS, FCC, NTCA, WIA, ACE, and more
- Topical Educational Sessions and Speakers at all PCCA Meetings
- PCCA Journal & www.pccaweb.org

“Leadership development is important to us as we grow, and it helps develop each individual as they obtain more responsibility. PCCA facilitators do an excellent job! They know how to keep people engaged and get the point across.”

— Rob Pribyl, MP Nexlevel

“We come away from the PCCA Convention with a feeling of how others are doing in the business and of the many opportunities that are available to us for the future.”

— Tommy Muse, Silvey Enterprises

Attend the 2020 PCCA Convention
February 28 - March 4, 2020 • Grand Hyatt Baha Mar • Nassau, Bahamas

For more information, contact Stacy Bowdring or James Wagner at (800) 542-PCCA or go to www.pccaweb.org